TAKE NOTICE,
THAT I am to be sold on such terms, that the purchaser need not advance any cash, unless he pleases, till it is earned by my services, provided no accident happens me; or, if you please, I am to be farmed out for two years, and not less. I am a bright bay, full 15¼ hands high, of noble descent, my name is TRIMMER—I was got by Hall's imported horse Eclipse, my dam, purchased by Doctor Hall, was got by the imported horse Slim; my grand dam was got by Old Figure; my great grand dam by Taskers Othello out of Selima, &c. &c. as will more fully appear by William Lyle's attested certificate who raised me. My character as a racer is well established; I won the colt's purse at Bladensburg of twenty guineas; I won a fifty guinea purse at Baltimore, a fifty guinea purse at Annapolis and a fifty guinea purse at Hagerstown. I never lost a race but the last I run at Alexandria, which was owning to my being badly shod, as I lost all my plates before I got in. I am in fine plight, sound in every respect; my offspring are in great repute, some of which are now in training for the turf—procure me good stands and entertainment and I am able to earn one thousand dollars per annum.

KINGSTON, (Jam.) Dec. 29.

His Majesty's ship Lark in company with another man of war, ran ashore two French privateers on the coast of Cuba, the crews of which all escaped, except one Frenchman, who, when they were quitting the coast, informed them that a cask containing 8000 dollars had been thrown out of the vessel he had been on board of, which had been mistaken by the ships of war for an anchor; accordingly a search was made, and the cask was found.

We are informed that the Lark on her cruise fell in with an open boat having on board several French persons that had escaped from St Domingo, and were going to St. Jago de Cuba; they mention, that it is impossible to live under the tyranny exercised in that island.

St. Jago de la Vega, Jan. 26.

On Tuesday last, three seamen belonging to the Hermione frigate were tried on board the Abergavenny; when it appearing that one of them was sick in his hammock at the time the mutiny took place, he was consequently acquitted; the other two were found guilty, and sentenced to be hung in chains.

NASSAU, February 8.

The following prizes and detained vessels have arrived here since our last:

Spanish schooner Maria, prize to the Nancy privateer.

Brig Aurora, Philips, from Charleston for Havannah, and the schooner William, Dixon, from St. Domingo for Charleston; sent in by the Pleasant and Lynx sloops of war.

Brig Diamond, Tyles, from New-York for New Orleans, sent in by the Dasher privateer.

Brig Maryland, Roxburgh, from Curacoa for Baltimore; had on her outward bound voyage been taken by a French privateer, and sent into Curacoa. By the Lark privateer.

Shooner Betsy, Small, from North Carolina for Havannah with naval stores. By the George privateer.

Spanish schooner N. S. del Gusto from La Vero Cruz for Bilboa. By the Mary-Ann privateer.

The Hero and Lark Privateers of this port, have arived since our last, with 126 Negroes, saved from the neutral Brig Juno, Price, from St Croix bound for Havannah, and a large quantity of dry goods, saved from the neutral ship Jupiter, Kopper bound from Hamburgh for Havanna. Both of those vessels were cast away in the night of the 10th inst. upon Sugar Key Reef, in the Old Sraits.

The passengers and crews of both the wrecked vessels, are brought in here.

It was reported at St. Croix, about three weeks since that a secret expedition was preparing at Martinique. St. Martin's and St. Eustatius were conjectured to be the objects of it.

February 15.

It is said, that the two Spanish frigates which were in the port of Matanzas on the 28th of last month, have a large quantity of treasure on board and are destined for Europe.

The Monarcha of 80 guns which got safe to Vigo, in Aug, last was chased in the Gulph by com. Loring's squadron; but got clear by superior sailing. It was said she had five millions of dollars on board; and in all probability, the cargoes of these two frigates united are not less valuable.

February 19.

The schooner Fox, O'Brien, from New-York, for New-Orleans, and the schooner Goliath, Raymond, from New-York for Havanna, both with contraband articles detained by the Vigilant and Clover privateers of this port, have arrived here since our last.

Extract from the Log Book of the sloop Henry captain Cusuch.

"October 21, 1798, left Giboon River on the Coast of Africa. Nothing material happened until the 28th of December, when I was chased by a French privateer in lat. 20d. N. long. 62d. 30m. W. On the 9th of January, at 4 P. M. being in lat. 22d. 10m. N. long. 71d. 40m. W. saw a vessel to the Eastward in chase of me, coming up very fast, and at 9 P. M. was within hail, firing at me. I hailed her several times, but got no answer; she being close, I opened a brisk fire upon her, which was kept up for about 40 minutes, when she dropt astern. At 11 P. M. she returned again under my lee; after a close engagement of about three quarters of an hour, beat her off. Immediately made sail to the Northward, and the next morning saw nothing of her. At 10 A. M. however, I discovered her a second time in my wake, and at 1 P. M. was within gun shot.—Finding myself so near that I could not possibly escape by sailing, shortened sail; on coming up along side they gave me a broadside which was immediately returned, after which, engaged her within half pistol shot for six glasses, and was then obliged to strike having all my standing and running rigging cut to pieces, and my vessel ungovernable—My antagonist was a Spanish packet, called the St. Rosalia, Capt. Monors, carrrying ten 18 and 12 pounders with 75 men, from Teneriffe bound to Havanna. I had only six 3 pounders, and two 2 pounders, with 14 men. After taken possession of my vessel, they ran her on shore about seven leagues to leeward of Cape Maize, where all the crew and slaves perished, except 27 of the latter who swam ashore. Myself and crew were extremely well treated by the captain and officers of the St. Rosalia, but after arriving at Havanna, I was imprisoned among people of every denomination, and extremely ill fed, being only allowed 3 sixteenths of a dollar per day, by the Commissioners for my subsistence."

Capt. Cusach, late of the sloop Henry, his Mate, and an Apprentice arrived here yesterday in a Cartel from Havanna.

About six weeks since a fleet for Spain, under convoy of a frigate and a Corvette, sailed from Havanna.

KINGSTON, January 26.

Arrived at Port Royal since our last.

Ship William Henry, Cruscaten N. York
Schr. Del Carmen, Rosomanta Baribano
Edward Bunknor, Baltimore

We understand and from good authority, that the sailing of the next convoy is postponed for ten days, from the time originally fixed, from the port of rendezvous.

Arrived the ship Merchant of New York taken some days since by his majesty's brig Diligence. This vessel was bound from Jacamel to Aux Cays, when the Deligence fell in with her.—She since fell to leeward of this port, and was obliged to put into Withywood Bay.

The American ship Margaret, of New-York, last from Martinique sent in by his Majesty's ship Aquilon, arrived on Thursday; she was bound to the Havannah with a cargo of Turpentine.

From the New-York Gazette and General Advertiser.

IT might be useful did every person, who reads a book with pleasure and advantage, point it out to others, especially if the book be new and not generally known. Under this impression, I take the liberty of recommending to all lovers of sound learning and true criticism, a late work published in London, entitled "The Pursuits of Literature, a Satirical Poem in four dialogues—with notes." The first dialogue was first published in 1794, the second and third in 1796, and the fourth in 1797. They were collected and published in one volume octavo in 1798, and the edition which I have seen, is said to be the seventh, revised.

The author of this work is unknown. "I declare to the public," says he, "that neither my name, nor my situation in life will ever be revealed."—And again, "It will be idle to conjecture concerning the author, and more than foolish to be very inquisitive." His motive for this is, as he says, not "the apprehension of any private resentment," but that his name could add no weight, and might hinder the good effects of his satire.

"The general subject," in his own words, "is LITERATURE, however exerted, whether for the benefit, or for the injury of mankind;" and he declares it to be his opinion, "that LITERATURE, well or ill conducted, IS THE GREAT ENGINE by which all civilised states must ultimately be supported or overthrown." With this view he shews the destructive tendency of many publications of this age, to morality, social order and happiness. He is particularly severe on Godwin's Political Justice, and Enquirer; on Volney's Ruins; and on the novel or romance called the Monk by Mr. Lewis.

The singularity of this work is, that the notes are, and were intended to form the chief part. The author thinks, "that, in the present change of manners, opinions, government and learing, a variation is now required in the mode of conducting satirical writings, by calling in the reciprocal assistance of poetry and prose to the same work." Though so many notes may not divert the attention from the poem, and seem a little troublesome, yet no man would wish them absent; and having first read the poem in connection with the notes, he will find it, on a second perusal, better understood, and affording a more exquisite relish.

Perhaps, there will be found no where, so accurate an account of the writers of this day, so great a body of just criticism, and a work so well calculated, in every respect, to gratify the scholar, the man of taste, and the lover of mankind, as "The Pursuits of Literature." The quotations, however, from the ancient Greek writers are so numerous, as to render an American edition difficult.

I shall conclude with giving a few short extracts from the poem. I have marked many passages both in this and the notes, some of which I may hereafter send for publication.

On DR. PRIESTLEY.

"If I MAY write, let Proteus Priestley tell,
He writes on ALL things, but on nothing well;
Who, as the Dæmon of the day decrees,
Air, books, or water makes with equal ease."

He is introduced in another place with a reference to the religious controversy between him and Bishop Horsly.

"Socinius droops, and baffled Priestley flies,
And at the strength of Horsly shrinks and dies."

ON GODWIN.

"Godwin's dry page no statesman e'er believ'd
Though fiction aids, what sophistry conceiv'd.

ON ERSKINE.

"In state affairs all Barristers are dull,
And Erskine nods, the opium in his skull."

I wish I could accompany those quotations with their notes, which are very characteristic. The following encomium on Sir William Jones, one of the Judges in Bengal, is beautiful and just:

"He to, whom Indus and the Ganges mourn,
The glory of their banks from Isis torn,
In learning's strength is fled, in judgment's prime,
In science temp'rate, various, and sublime:
To him familiar every legal doom,
The Courts of Athens, or the halls of Rome,
Or Hindo Vedas taught; for him the Muse
Distill'd from EVERY flow'r Hyblean dews;
Firm when exalted, in demeanour grave,
Mercy and truth were his, he lov'd to save.
His mind collected; at opinion's shock
JONES stood unmov'd, and from the Christian rock,
Celestial brightness beaming on his breast,
He saw THE STAR, and worshipp'd in the East."

When we look back to the origin, and view the progress of the opposition to the measures of our government to preserve our national independence against the attempts of the French to reduce us to the state of all the republics of Europe, we may with strict propriety and justice call this opposition a "FRENCH faction"—To be sure they now have not a Genet as a leader whom they once arrayed in opposition to a Washington.—Certainly this faction now dare not sing the ca-ira, nor dance the carmagnole—but it is obvious that those men who once brought shame and disgrace upon our country by these foreign excesses, are the same men who now incessantly cry aloud against every measure adopted to preserve the independence of the country, to protect our commerce and prevent the influence of French intrigue and the effects of French principles. Those men who once boasted in calling themselves jacobins, are the same men, who now oppose (as far as they find prudent) the restriction of the intercourse with France, declaim against the armament of merchantmen, and make "popular harrangues, and public political discussions" even to juries in trying matters of fact, against the alien and sedition laws—and oppose every law calculated to defend and protect us against the ruinous designs of the French republic. This faction, and it ought not to be forgotten, once called themselves jacobins, and this name because unpopular even in France, it therefore became prudent, and the faction thought proper to change it here. They then called themselves democrats, and this also became an opprobious epithet. This same FRENCH faction have now presumed to call themselves republicans, altogether forgetting that it is the first principle of true republicanism to submit to the will of the majority.

It is a fact that the FRENCH faction in Northampton have assumed, and do now wear the French cockade.

It is presumed that the patriotic members of the legislature who have gone to Northampton well know what has been the origin of the insurrection, and who are, in this business, behind the curtain. It is generally supposed that they will have great influence over their constituents.

No orders has yet been published relative to the marching a military force against the insurgents in Northampton county, in this state; but we are informed that different volunteer corps are directed to hold themselves in readiness; and notices are issued for assembling the City Cavalry, and other militia companies.

COMMUNICATION.

ON INLAND NAVIGATION.

LETTER II.

March 19th, 1799.

To the CITIZENS of PENNSYLVANIA.

MY first letter, of the 5th instant, conveyed the Petitions of the Delaware and Schuylkill Canal Company, to the honorable Senate of this Commonwealth; and was intended as introductory to an account of the Pleadings of the learned Council, respecting the Charter Rights of the Company, on a subject of the first magnitude; deeply interesting, not only to our Commercial Metropolis, but to the Citizens of Pennsylvania at large; in every possible view, leading towards the improvement of the natural advantages of our Country, whether in respect to Commerce, or to Agriculture, Manufactures, Political Economy and the good Government and Happiness of the Commonwealth.

In the years 1790, 1791, the Legislature of Pennsylvania (embracing the final arrangement and flourishing condition of their finances) turned their serious attention to public improvements; and particularly to the promotion of the internal trade, manufactures and population of their country, by facilitating every possible communication between the different parts of the state, by means of good roads and the improvement of our numerous rivers and navigable waters. To aid in this great work, a Society, which had subsisted some time, by the name of "the Society for the Improvement of Roads and Inland Navigation", and had collected much useful information in respect to the Geography and Hydrography of the country, presented an interesting Memorial to the Legislature, setting forth—"That Pennsylvania, from her situation and extent of territory, is a respectable commonwealth in the union. Her soil is fertile, her products various, and her rivers, by the bountiful Author of Nature, have been made to flow in every direction, as on purpose to bear from all parts the produce and wealth of the land, in an easy, cheap and expeditious manner, to her principal mart and port in the city of Philadelphia. That to combine the interests of all parts of the state, and to cement them in a perpetual commercial and political union, by the improvement of those natural advantages, was one of the greatest works which could be submitted to legislative wisdom and and public spirit. That the moment, then present, was particularly auspicious to the undertaking; and, if neglected, the loss might be hard to retrieve."

"That when once trade has forced its way, even through a less advantageous channel, it is difficult to alter its course; and a small expence, judiciously and seasonably applied, may retain a stream in its channel, which with immense sums cannot be restored, if once diverted from it. Large emigrations from Europe are now directing their course to this country, and will be encouraged by every improvement we make by means of good land and water carriage, between our metropolis on the Atlantic waters, and the more remote parts of the state."

The memorial then proceeds to delineate, or describe the two great branches of our Inland Navigation, with all their ramifications, the nature and situation of the waters, and the distances of the various places of embarkation for the metropolis; viz.—

1st. The DELAWARE NAVIGATION, from the tide-water at Trenton Falls, to Lake Otsego, the north-east branch of Susquehanna. Also, from the great Bend on the said branch, by way of Tioga, Connedessago Lake, the Seneca and Onandago Rivers, Oswego, on Lake Ontario; with an estimate of the expence.

2. The SUSQUEHANNAH NAVIGATION, as connected with the waters of Scuylkill on the east, and the Ohio and great lakes, westerly, comprehending the Schuylkill and Susquehannah Canal and River Navigation to Juniata, and from the head of the same by Conemaugh and Kiskemenetas waters to Alleghenny river, thence down to Pittsburg, on the Ohio, or up to French Creek, and by the same to Le Bœuf and Presqu'Isle on Lake Erie, with all the ramifications and portages of this navigation, beyond the limits of Pennsylvania, to the utmost limits of the United States! In short, this memorial, with the documents and remarks which accompanied it, will bear to be read and kept in view, as a magazine of information, as long as the improvement of water and roads for internal commerce, shall continue to be the object of public attention and care.

It was received and immediately acted upon by a Legislature animated by the warmest zeal for the improvement of their country, although they could not subject the finances of the state to the burthen of the whole execution; nevertheless they came forward with a high sense of duty, and made liberal appropriations of public money, for the improvement of such roads and navigable waters as lying too remote from the more populous parts of the state, and the inhabitants but thinly settled, required more immediate aid, as preparatory and connecting links in the great system of land and water communications; and for the accomplishment of the rest, following the example of the wisest states in the old world, they passed acts of incorporation, to encourage and stimulate private enterprize, in aid of public good.

The Grants from the Legislature for roads and waters from April 13th 1791, to April 10th 1792 — Dollars 96,426

From April 10th 1792, to April 11th 1793 — 14,333

Large grants have been since made, of which I have no account at hand; except in 1791, 1792, the total of which amounts to — 110,759

The Companies incorporated for Canal Navigation, were as follows, viz.

1791, Sept. 29.—The President, Managers and Company of the Schuylkill and Susquehannah Navigation, by means of the waters of Tulpehoccon, Quitapahilla, and Swatara.

1792, April 10.—The President, Managers and Company of the Delaware and Schuylkill Canal Navigation, by means of the waters of Schuylkill from the north bounds of the city of Philadelphia, to the mouth of Stoney-Creek, at Norriton, and the Streams lying between the north bounds of the city aforesaid and the distance of eight miles therefrom.

1793, Apr. 10th.—The Conewago Company, for opening and improving that part of the river Susquehanna, from Wright's Ferry to the mouth of Swatara, with a Lock Navigation and Canal, from the head to the foot of Conewaga-Falls.

Total expenditures on Inland Navigation,

From 110,759 66 dollars, granted by the State for roads and waters, deduct about 54,750 dollars the part appropriated for roads and there remains

1st. Granted by the state for waters,*	56,009
2d. Expended by the Schuylkill and Susquehannah Canal company,	249,403
3d. By the Delaware, and Schuylkill Canal company,	213,134
4th. By the Conewago Canal company, exclusive of the State grant of 14,000 dollars (part of the above 56,009 33 dollars)	90,710
Total	609,256

* Besides the 56,009 dollars granted in 1791, 1792, for the improvement of Inland Navigation, very considerable sums had been granted by the State before that period, and further grants are almost every session since that time collected and obtained.

The present state of these three Canals, and the waters connected with them is as follows—

The Conewaga Canal and its Locks are in operation, for the passage of boats with great ease and safety; but to introduce boats descending from Middleton, at certain heights of the river, certain improvements, about 60 yards above the regulating Lock, which will cost about 2,710 dollars, are contemplated by the company, although beyond the limits of their contract.

The Schuylkill and Susquehannah Canal, might soon be in operation, the main sett of locks at the summit level being long since compleated, and the remaining stock of the company, if it could be fully collected would be sufficient, by recurring to the original plan, viz. the beds of the Tulpehockon, Quitipahilla and Swatara, with a little aid from the state for the better clearing those rivers, and passing the several mills, by locks or sluices—At least two thirds of the works of this Canal are compleated, and almost the whole digging of the middle ground, which connects the Schuylkill and Susquehannah waters.

With respect to the Delaware and Schuylkill Canal, the company have stated in their Memorial to the Legislature, that it is at least half compleated in point of expence; and that the remainder lying through much easier ground, may be compleated in the short period of two years, if the company are duly aided and encouraged in the work.

In short, a far less sum than has been already expended on the part of the State and the Canal Companies, would (if judiciously applied) be amply sufficient for the final accomplishment of the whole system of Inland Navigation, as at present contemplated, for connecting the Western Waters of the Susquehannah, the Ohio and great Lakes, with the Port of Philadelphia; thereby opening an almost unbounded prospect of future wealth and importance to the citizens of this commonwealth.

I shall proceed in my next letter to state some of the difficulties and discouragements which have occurred in the prosecution of this great plan of Inland Navigation, and shall not omit to take notice of some late proceedings and visionary Steam Projects, which were the subject of discussion before the honorable Senate, as having a tendency to frustrate, or at least to procrastinate for a long time, the perfecting the Delaware and Schuylkill Canal, as a capital link in the great system of Inland Navigation, as well as the true and permanent source of a supply of pure Water for the Drinkers, as well as many substantial articles for the Eaters in the City.

By two vessels arrived at New-York from New-Orleans, accounts are brought of an engagement having taken place on the 19th of Feb. between the Delaware sloop of war Capt. Decatur, and a French privateer of 18 or 20 guns.—Letters from on board the Delaware, dated the 26th, of Feb. have been received in this city, which make no mention of such a circumstance;—we are therefore warranted in suspecting the truth of the account.

Not any thing is more true than the remark of the hon. Mr. Dayton, in his reply to the vote of thanks, inserted under the Congress head—viz. there are some whose approbation must be considered by the meritorious as a censure, and whose censure must be regarded, as the highest testimony of merit. He whose misfortune it may be, whether placed in the most dignified situation in the power of his country to bestow, or performing the duties attached to the character of a genuine American, in the private walks of life, in either case to receive the laud of Jacobinism, the panegyrics of a desperate, unprincipled faction, must, in the hour of reflection, excite in his mind sensations the most unenviable—and cannot fail of leading him to a scrutiny with respect to that conduct which has brought upon him such humiliating approbation—a scrutiny that will result a self condemning sentence, accompanied with a resolve (if the heart is right;) to shun the unhallowed walk where the laurels of real patriotism are blighted by the poisonous influence of the overspreading ivy.

On the 22d February, Capt Black, of the brig Franklin, on his passage from New-Orleans, was boarded by his Majesty's ship Thunderer, Capt. Crowly, of 74 guns. The next day was boarded by the Hanibal, of 74 guns, which had in tow two Spanish prizes, captured the day before—one of them was a brig from the Mediterranean, and considered a very valuable prize—the other a schooner.

On the 26th, was boarded by a Spanish cruizing brig—while undergoing an overhawling, she espyed a sail, and made off.

The sloop Harriot, capt. Sellers, from New Orleans, on the 22d ult. off the Chandeliers, fell in with an English squadron of 7 sail—one a 90 gun ship, one of 74, four frigates, and a sloop of war. Capt. Sellers was informed by the officers of one of these ships, that Capt. Decatur, of the sloop of war Delaware, on the 19th ult. in the Gulph passage had an engagement with a French brig of 18 or 20 guns, which lasted for four hours, and that they separated, (to use the Captains phrase) "so good and so good."

An engagement between the Delaware and a French privateer of SOME kind is not altogether improbable, from the circumstance of capt. Decatur's being in the Gulf on the 12th of February—vide his letter of this date. Besides, it was told to captain Sellers in terms of positivity, though not particularly. We are inclined, however, from capt. Decatur's known bravery, not to believe that the engagement terminated as here stated, unless the Frenchman had the advantage in metal, men, and position.

The above squadron is that which lately blocked the Havanna.

Capt. Seller suffered much on the Coast from the late severity of the weather—three of his hands were frost bitten, and unable to do duty.

The brig American Hero, capt Brown arrived yesterday from Martinique, in 36 days. Left there the ship Diana, capt.——, to sail in 15 days.

The brig Aurora was at Martinique, discharging.

B. sailed in company with a fleet of 43 sail of Americans, under convoy of the ship Merrimack.

Spoke on English frigate, who informed, that commodore Barry was in chase of a French 50 gun ship.

We understand capt. B has brought dispatches to Government, from Capt. Truxton.
